THE FAIR A GREAT SUCCESS.

Crowds From Everywhere Gather Together and Have the Time of Their Lives.

LOUISVILLE DAY WAS A RECORD-BREAKER.

The Live Stock and Floral Hall Exhibits Were Exceedingly Fine.

THE MANAGEMENT TO BE CONGRATULATED.

The Fair was perfect. The crowd was the best and largest that has ever gathered in Breckenridge county. The stock could not have been excelled elsewhere; the treatment by the Hardinsburg people has never been equaled. Taking the event all in all, it was brilliant, it was a crowning success, and the Breckenridge Fair Association should gladly be proud of the outcome. The financial side, too, no doubt, will be far better than it was last year.

In reporting the Fair, the News gives its columns to the people and their opinions about it, which is as follows:

Coming home on the train from the Fair Thursday night were several young girls from different places in the county talking about the glorious time they had during the whole three days—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. It was most interesting to listen to their remarks. The first one to speak when the crowd had settled down was prim little Miss Stephensport. She said: "Tuesday was the best day for me. I didn't expect to see so many folks the first day, but in the afternoon there was a big mass on the grand stand, and everybody looked so fresh and sweet, and you could hear the Hardinsburg band so distinctly, too."

"Wednesday for me," spoke up Miss Irvington. "The more folks I see from Custer and Louisville the happier I am." She must have been supremely happy for the twelve thousand people were principally Louisvillians. The persons from other places were sprinkled over the jam like pepper over a cantaloupe. Mr. Bruce Haldeman said Mr. Vic Robertson, the president, and Mr. M. Beard, the secretary, should be congratulated upon having so many visitors to entertain.

"Those horses," exclaimed Miss Bewleyville, "of course she was daffy about the horses for she took a blue ribbon in the ladies' riding ring—'When Beard Bros. got that loving cup I cheered until I was hoarse.' No one could have blamed her, for their display of horses was exceedingly fine. It delighted hundreds of persons to see Mr. Herbert Beard walk out of the ring carrying the handsome silver cup."

"The only thing I objected to about the Fair," said a pretty Cloverport girl, "There were too many good looking men there. I couldn't decide. I went to the fortune teller, though, and she told me the first man I met who wore a green tie was my fiancé. 'And what do you think, he was that grand doctor from Livermore. I think we girls from Cloverport had a better time on the midway than any others. We had our pictures made, rode on the merry-go-round and went to every show except the moving picture show—only courting couples went there. Somebody said that Mr. Preston Green and Mr. Lewis Kincheloe kept that place up.'"

"Oh, that fine stock Mr. Geo. Lyddan had," exclaimed Miss Glendean, "If I could raise cattle like his I would willingly live down on the farm for ever."

"You know the person who gave me the most pleasure at the Fair was Mr. Jeff Hook. Every time he sent the water wagon around I gave him a vote of thanks for trying to keep the dust down," said a girl who lives on the river bank near Addison.

"If I live to be a hundred years old I shall never, never forget that cordial, earnest invitation that Mr. Jess Howard gave out through the megaphone as we said goodbye to the old fair grounds about dusk Thursday. It went right to my heart," spoke an attractive girl from Elizabethtown. "Come back, come back in 1909," Mr.

Howard called out until every person had left the grand stand. Great was our County Fair.

"HELLO!"

Three Thousand Met This Greeting at the Great Breckenridge County Fair.

The News' Badges Were Worn By Big, Little, Old and Young Alike.

HERE ARE THE LUCKY NUMBERS

637
1,547
2,257
2,967

The Breckenridge News said "Hello" to three thousand persons at the Fair. Many of them were subscribers, some of them will be and the rest of them want to be.

The News' booth at the grand stand was most popular, and the "Hello" badges were greatly appreciated by all. Each one was numbered, and as announced at the booth, five of them were good for free subscriptions to the News. The numbers were decided upon and kept secret by Dr. R. L. Newsom, of this city. They were sealed in an envelope, and were not opened until press hour.

The persons holding these numbers will please send badges to the News office and receipts for the subscriptions will be sent immediately.

Never before in the history of the Breckenridge News, since it was founded in 1876 by John D. Babbage in a cellar down on the river bank, has the paper enjoyed a stronger support by the people of the county and former citizens of Breckenridge, than it is having today. The subscription list is increasing, interest is growing keener and everybody is putting out a glad hand for "the dear old News."

If the paper does not come into your home now, see that it does before winter sets in, so you can have a cheerful, newsy visitor every week at your fireside. A visitor who will tell you about the folks you saw and met at "Our County Fair."

If your subscription expires this month renew it at once. Life's too short to put off getting the best things in life! Here's good wishes to all of you until we have a chance to say "Hello" again.

A $10,000 Exhibit.

Beard Bros., of Hardinsburg, were the winners of the cup offered by the Bank of Hardinsburg and Trust Company for the best exhibit at the Breckenridge County Fair of live stock shown by a Breckenridge farmer; stock to consist of at least three of the following kinds: Horses, mules, cattle, hogs and sheep. They were the only contestants. Their exhibit consisted of the following: Fourteen horses, twelve mules, twelve Jerseys, ten Poland China hogs and fourteen Sharpshire and Southdown sheep. It was said to be the biggest exhibit ever put in a Kentucky county fair by one exhibitor, and was valued at from $7,500 to $10,000, all fine stock.

Dorothy Boating Club.

John L. Oberst, August G. Bosler and L. B. Witmeyer, members of the Dorothy Boating Club, arrived here in their launch Monday. They are enjoying a few days outing on the Ohio.

For Miss Plank.
